HISTORY OF THE AWARD

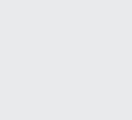

In 2006, Mary L. Thomas, chief operating officer of The Spartanburg County Foundation, was honored by the Council on Foundations with the Robert W. Scrivner Award for Creative Grantmaking. This prestigious award is a memorial to the creative legacy left to the field of philanthropy by Robert W. Scrivner, long-time director of the Rockefeller Family Fund. Mary was selected because she best exemplified the imagination, creativity and optimism that were the hallmarks of Scrivner's distinguished career. She had the courage to lead The Spartanburg County Foundation into a period of innovation and grassroots leadership that even today continues to change the fabric of the greater Spartanburg County community and beyond.

With this award came a $10,000 prize. In the spirit of the award, Mary decided to use the $10,000 as seed money to establish the Mary L. Thomas Award for Civic Leadership and Community Change Fund. The Foundation's Trustees came alongside Mary and established an award to start a similar recognition program in Spartanburg. Through the support of numerous individuals and the Spartanburg community, Mary's initial gift has continued to multiply, surpassing the Fund's original goal of $100,000. The Mary L. Thomas Award for Civic Leadership and Community Change honors individuals who, like Mary, are community leaders, innovators and contributors to community change by addressing critical issues throughout Spartanburg County.
